Australian Government

About this document

Our vision is one of resilient communities, and this includes the people as much as the flora and fauna.

For our community groups to continue to grow and deliver the great natural resource management work they do, there needs to be a solid foundation. Good governance provides that. This handbook is intended to help sub-regional groups across the South Coast NRM region critically assess and improve where necessary their governance practices.

The handbook will cover the following areas around governance:

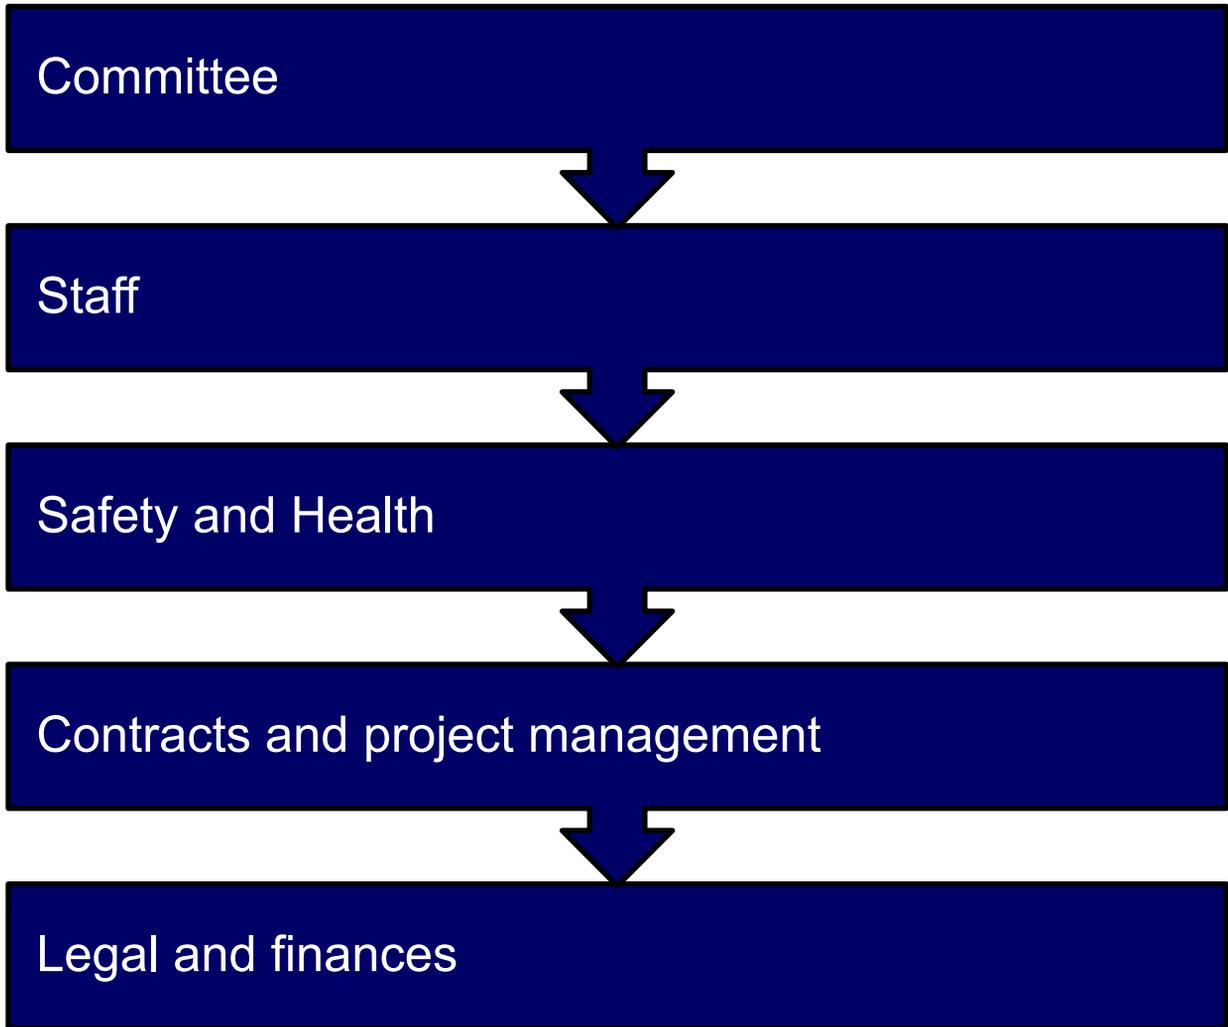

- Committee
- Staff
- Safety and Health
- Contracts and project management
- Legal and finances

It contains a range of templates, draft policies and procedures that can be adapted for use.

If there is something you think we should be including, please let us know. We will update this document as new information comes to hand.

Please email Letisha Newman at letishan@southcoastnrm.com.au Alternatively please call on 08 9845 8537.

Overview

A committee is responsible for governance. But what does that mean? How does a committee deliver on their governance responsibilities?

The role of the committee involves certain core elements, such as:

- Strategic planning including vision, purpose and values of the organisation
- Financial management, including approval of annual budgets and providing a check on the integrity of external financial reports, and approval of expenditure over prescribed limits
- Appointment, performance evaluation and (if the circumstances necessitate) termination of the employment contract of staff
- Risk oversight
- Any additional monitoring of the activities of the organisation in order to satisfy itself that the organisation is being properly managed
- Supporting effective engagement with key stakeholders.

Developing	Even if your incorporated organisation doesn't have a constitution you still need to comply with the Associations Incorporation Act (2015). These requirements are set out in the model rules for associations. There have been some recent changes to the Associations Incorporations Act (2015). These are highlighted on the Department of Commerce website. In summary these are: Associations must review and update their rules as well as introducing a number of changes regarding: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Financial reporting; • Governances; • Privacy; • The rules; • Becoming Incorporated and • Membership of Incorporated Associations. Reviewing and updating	Committee is responsible for ensuring the constitution is adhered to. It outlines membership of the committee as well as the roles and responsibilities of office bearers. Efficient committees review their constitution annually. Even if no changes are made, it ensures the constitution is always relevant and up to date. That way, when changes are required it takes only a small amount of time.	No template available	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • http://www.commerce.wa.gov.au/consumer-protection/associations-and-clubs

Committee Membership

Induction	Many committees get new members only to find they turn up at one or two meetings, before never being seen again. Consider holding a meeting after the AGM for new committee members to receive an orientation or induction regarding the group, their role and responsibilities and conflict of interest parameters. As of 1st July 2016 new committee members must declare they meet the eligibility criteria as stated in the Associations Incorporation Act 2015 (Model Rules – 27. Committee members)	No template available	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> https://www.commerce.wa.gov.au/publications/model-rules-associations-2016
Defined roles for members	Outlines what is expected of members and what their duties are. Consider sending new committee members a letter of engagement after the AGM outlining their role and responsibilities.	No template available
Succession planning	It's difficult attracting new members. Developing an induction kit or outlining in writing what is expected of new members can help. New members bring with them new ideas. However what is not good is the loss of knowledge that may come with that. It is important that the group has a process in place to ensure this doesn't happen.	No template available	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> http://www.ourcommunity.com.au/management/view_help_sheet.do?articleid=740

Committee Strategy

	Relevance	Template	Further info
Developing	Good planning helps the organisation clearly set objectives, strategies, and actions, timeframes and performance indicators. It also provides a means to monitor performance. Plans should be regularly reviewed and updated to allow for timely and practical adaptation of strategies in response to changing circumstances including new and emerging risks and opportunities.	No template available
Goals and principles	A set of goals and guiding principles can be very useful in day to day implementation of the strategy. They can be used to set acceptable behaviours as well as assessing the compatibility of possible projects and funding sources.	No template available
Performance	A strategy must be a living, breathing document. Our strategies must be adaptable and flexible so they can respond to changes in both our internal and external environments. We can't know if our strategy is achieving its objectives if it is not monitored on a regular basis (yearly).	No template available
Organisational risk	In developing a strategy it is a good idea to identify the risks that your group may face as well as actions needed to minimise them. Examples of organisational risk for NRM may include a lack of funding opportunities.	No template available

If you employ staff it can at times be overwhelming to work out what you need to know. This section of the guide will shed some light on the requirements.

South Coast NRM uses the Western Australian Public Service and Government Officers General Agreement 2014 to guide employee benefits and salaries. A copy of that agreement can be found at: <http://www.publicsector.wa.gov.au/publications-resources/key-legislation/awards-and-agreements>.

Safety and Health

Safety and Health

Overview

A lot of information around safety and health is available, so much so that it can be overwhelming to find out what groups should be doing.

Firstly, it's important to note that responsibilities are set out in the Occupational Safety and Health Act 1984. The most important sections of the Act for community NRM groups are Section 19 (duties of employers) and Section 20 (duties of employees). They can be summarised in that as far as practicable employers must provide a safe workplace.

It is important to note that a workplace isn't just confined to the office and includes field visits and travel.

Even if you don't have employees the act still applies.

What is practicable in providing a safe workplace? Tough question to answer! A better question to start with is do you actually know what the risks and hazards are for your employees? A good first step to providing a safer workplace is to establish and maintain a risk register. This involves documenting all the risks employees face, the likelihood of them occurring, the consequence and assigning a risk rating.

Safety and Health

Key phases

Risk register

- Document risks
- Likelihood of occurrence
- Consequence
- Mitigation strategies
- Review regularly

Policies and procedures

- Develop based on risk register
- Provide guidance for employees, members and volunteers on how to work safely

Implementation

- Access to policies and procedures for all staff, members and volunteers
- Job safety analysis

Safety and Health Risk Register

	Relevance	Template	Further info
Risk register	Risk registers are a great first step in creating a safer workplace. They can be used to document the risks, likelihood, consequence and the necessary mitigation strategies. The register should form the basis of what you use to draw up policies and procedures. Start with the highest risk and then work progressively downwards. This needs to be reviewed regularly. It could form a part of the first meeting after every AGM so that all new committee members understand the risks. Don't forget to include psychological risks. Stress is a risk!! (https://www.commerce.wa.gov.au/worksafe/stress-what-law) Check out https://www.commerce.wa.gov.au/worksafe/safety-and-health-topics-0 for some indication of the types of topics you should include in your register.	 Risk register template	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • South Coast NRM • Worksafe WA (https://www.commerce.wa.gov.au/worksafe)

CONTRACTS & PROJECT MANAGEMENT

Contracts and project management

Overview

Governance is the systems and processes put in place to control and monitor or 'govern' an organisation. Governance is important no matter the size, purpose and maturity of a group as it provides the systems and process to ensure that the group complies with:

- Legal obligations
- Its rules and any funding agreements or other contracts;
- Its legal responsibilities to any employees, such as complying with employment awards or agreements, paying tax and superannuation and providing a safe working environment
- Its legal responsibilities to members, volunteers and any clients or customers who may use the group's services.

This means that committees require a good knowledge of contracts and the obligations that these contracts place on their group. It also means that in order to understand that these are being met, committees may need to have a knowledge of how the project is being managed.

This section covers basic contract management principles and the associated project management tasks.

Contracts and project management

Key phases

Funding

- Applications
- Agreements & contracts

Implementation

- Recognition of funding body
- Deliverables
- Reporting
- GPS/GIS data
- Project reviews
- Variations

Contract closure

- Reporting to funding body
- Archiving

Contracts and project management

Funding

	Relevance	Template	Further info
Applications	Funding applications should be approved by the committee before submission. The project proposed and the funding source, should be consistent with the group's strategy and principles.	No template available
Agreements & contracts	Read all funding agreements carefully before signing! These are legally binding agreements. Take careful note of what you have promised to deliver. Make sure the wording is clear and you understand everything that you have agreed to. Contracts developed with the best of intentions can sometimes become complicated due to lack of clear direction or ambiguity of wording. This may lead to problems such as on-ground works not being completed and working relationships being compromised, or worse. Careful reading at the start can help to avoid these problems. If you have an issue with a contract, talk to your funding contact.	No template available

Contracts and project management Implementation

	Relevance	Template	Further info
Recognition of funding body	Funders like to know they are getting value for money. Make sure that any publications contain their logo. Also ensure that they are credited in any media release. Groups like the Australian Government use services like media monitor and are sure to receive a copy of the media release.	No template available
Deliverables	These will be set out in your contract. Make sure they are delivered on time. If they are not, a variation may be required. Copies of any deliverables must be provided to the funding body.	No template available
Reporting	Reporting obligations will differ between funders. Due dates of reports will be set out in the contract. Reports should be approved by the Chair of the group before submitting to the funder. Reports are a great opportunity to tell your story! Make sure you make the most of it.	No template available
GPS/GIS data	GIS and GPS data will be required for on ground projects. This information is valuable when reporting to highlight where works have been achieved and future priority areas. South Coast NRM has specific GIS requirements.	No template available
Project reviews	It's a good idea to review project progress at regular intervals throughout the implementation. It's a good idea to check on the progress towards achieving the deliverables, budget, etc.	No template available
Variations	Variations to a contract may be required if a project is behind schedule. A variation should be applied for as soon as it becomes evident that there is a need for it. Speak to your funding body contact as soon as you think you might need a variation.	No template available

Contract Closure

	Relevance	Template	Further info
Report to funding body	As part of the contract you will be required to provide a final report to the funding body. This should outline everything you have done as well as include copies of all of the project deliverables (media releases etc). This report is a great way of showcasing your achievements and why you are a good investment. Good idea to make two copies of this report and keep one for yourself.	No template available
Contract closure	Closing a contract will involve auditing the finances of the project. This will need to be done by a qualified auditor. Contract closure requirements will differ between funding bodies, so make sure you ask your funding contact if you have any questions.	No template available
Archiving	Corporate knowledge is really critical. It's a good idea to safely and securely archive any documents relating to the project for future reference. Make sure that any electronic copies are backed up in multiple locations.	No template available

Legal Insurance

Public liability insurance	Protects an organisation against claims relating to bodily injury or property damage suffered by a third party (not an employee) as a result of an unexpected event. For example – someone injuring themselves at an event.	No template available	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Consult your insurance provider for more information.
Professional indemnity insurance	Where an organisation provides advice, or holds itself as having a special skill, a duty of care arises. This includes any person providing advice or special skills, including project management, advisory and consultancy services, machinery manufacture etc.	No template available	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Consult your insurance provider for more information.
Directors and officers liability insurance	Indemnifies individual directors and officers for their personal liability arising from the management of an organisation. Decisions made at a management level, including business strategy, employment relations, policies, standards, insurance and public statements are examples of issues covered under Directors and Officers insurance. Staff members (Officers) acting on instruction from management, due to decisions made at management level, are also covered under this insurance.	No template available	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Consult your insurance provider for more information.
Workers compensation Insurance	This insurance protects an organisation from claims made by employees of the organisation, from accident, injury or trauma (mental and physical) caused as a result of their employment. It generally DOES NOT cover employees travelling to and from their workplace, however whilst it may cover a worker injured when travelling on behalf of the organisation in their private vehicle, it is unlikely to cover damage to their private vehicle.	No template available	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Consult your insurance provider for more information.

Personal Accident Insurance	Covers individuals acting as volunteers for an organisation. It covers for the actual time acting as a volunteer—not the time taken to travel to or from their volunteering job. It does NOT cover individuals who are visiting a work environment who may have been volunteers in the past or are intending to be volunteers in the future. Until signed on as a volunteer, an accident or injury experienced by the visitor would require Public Liability cover.	No template available	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Consult your insurance provider for more information.
Comprehensive Vehicle Insurance	Covers vehicles for damage caused by accident or mishap. This insurance provides more than third party coverage, which covers only the 'other person' in an accident, and not their vehicle. Comprehensive Vehicle Insurance covers the vehicle insured and should cover any other vehicle or person in which it comes into contact, under certain circumstances (e.g. driver responsibility, alcohol and drug consumption etc). Comprehensive Vehicle Insurance may provide for the acquirement of a new vehicle in circumstances whereby a vehicle is written off as the result of an accident or incident.	No template available	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Consult your insurance provider for more information.

Always Check Your Insurance Requirement Or Policies With Your Insurer.

If in doubt about the contents and coverage of an insurance policy, ask for clarification from your Insurance body or Agent, in writing.

Budget	Useful tool for assessing the group. Can be broken down into subsets to make them less confusing. Good accounting ensures that the committee can make sound financial decisions on the basis of solid facts. Not for profits can still hold cash in reserve to meet obligations like staff long service leave.	No template available
Scheme of delegations	Who gets to spend the committee's hard won money? Do you have any rules around it? A scheme of delegations sets out who can spend what and how much of a group's money.	 Scheme of delegations	 POLICY - financial Delegation
Profit, loss, balance sheet	Profit is the difference between income and expenses (or loss if it's negative). Calculates profit or loss over the entire accounting period. Usually shown in financial years with last year's to compare it to. Balance sheet provides a snapshot at a point in time –very useful! Also known as a statement of financial position – shows assets, liabilities and equity. An incorporated group must present the financial statements to the members at an AGM.	 Sample Profit and Loss  Sample Balance Sheet	 Financials 101
